Campaigners still want answers to town's 'shambolic' healthcare

By George Welch

SOMEONE is going to die if the health provider for west Oxfordshire does not take the closure of Deer Park Medical Centre seriously.

Former patient Yvonne De Burgo says she fears for her life after having to re-register following the Edington Square surgery's closure last March.

Speaking at a health scrutiny meeting last week, she said she is at the point of despair as she feels her life could be cut short by the Oxfordshire Clinical Commissioning Group's (OCCG) decision to close Deer Park.

The grandmother, who has a very serious blood condition and type 2 diabetes among other things, said: "I am feeling extremely stressed, it's not good for my conditions and I want to be here for my son and grandchildren.

"I am the only grandparent they have left, I lost my husband and eldest son within 10 weeks of each other so I am also my son's only parent.

"I have a right to live and enjoy my life, not live on a knife-edge worrying all the time."

Mrs De Burgo, who lives on the Deer Park estate, said her complex health conditions have deteriorated since she had to re-register at the Windrush, two miles away. She added that she had only seen her newly-allocated GP once in the 11 months she had been registered there.

Also addressing the committee, Witney deputy mayor Brenda Churchill described health care in the town as "shambolic", adding: "Someone is going to die before you [OCCG] take notice of patients' plight."

In response, Catherine Mountford, director of governance at the OCCG, said the health provider is focussing on problems facing Witney, including housing and population changes.

But she added: "We cannot continue to deliver primary care in the way it has been delivered...[and] we could not look at Witney in isolation – it is about primary care for the whole population."

And while a health plan was published last month for the West Oxfordshire locality, Witney town and county councillor Laura Price, also a HOSC [the health scrutiny group] member, believes the locality plans have distracted from the seriousness of Deer Park.

Chairman of the committee Arash Fatemian said there were still important unanswered questions about Deer Park to be answered and district councillor Neil Owen accused the OCCG of 'hiding in their bunker'.

He added: "It appears to me that there is an enormous gulf between the OCCG and the local people. This gulf is filled with mistrust and irritation because there is no meaningful engagement between the two."

The OCCG plans to publish a 'reader friendly' version of the locality plan this month.

All aboard 'baby' bus

MEET Ernie, a somewhat smaller version of one of the retro buses proudly on display at a Long Hanborough museum.

A group of enthusiasts at the Oxford Bus Museum built a replica of a vintage bus from 1960, perfectly sized for small passengers ahead of half term this week.

Visiting children have been able to hop aboard the playbus, which has been named Ernie in memory of woodworking volunteer Ernie Clack who died in 2015 and has the registration ERN 1E.

John Bayliss, who designed the bus and led the project, did much of the work himself. He said: "It was a challenge but a lot of fun creating the bus from nothing and I hope the youngsters will use their imaginations and get their own enjoyment from it."

The Bus Museum will be open today and Sunday for more playbus fun.

Staff 'must be safe' from fallout of Oxfam scandal

Union seeks reassurance for 'blameless' employees

By Eva Astreinidou

THE union representing more than 300 Oxfam staff is seeking reassurances its 'blameless' members are safe after the sexual misconduct allegations which have emerged over the last week.

Unite wants to know steps are being taken to restore the charity's reputation following revelations some of its senior aid workers used prostitutes after the disaster relief operation in Haiti in 2010.

Since the original claims there have been fresh allegations of sexual misconduct.

The Oxford-based charity's deputy chief executive Penny Lawrence has resigned over claims it concealed the findings of an inquiry into the use of the prostitutes.

Oxfordshire councillor Helen Evans, who worked as Oxfam's Global Head of Safeguarding between 2012 and 2015, said she had tried to speak to the senior leadership team several times about the lack of safeguarding resources to prevent sexual misconduct.

Speaking to Channel 4 News, she said: "It was a continual fight to try and get more resources. I felt that our failure to adequately resource [our safeguarding teams] was putting people at risk."

She said that one of the allegations involved an adult and child volunteer in the UK, adding: "That troubled me because I knew that Oxfam was not conducting the criminal record checks that it needed to conduct."

The charity has since said it has put in place further safeguarding measures as well as a 'whistleblowing' hotline.

This is in addition to an internal investigation in 2011 immediately after it became aware of the Haiti situation.

In an official statement last week, an Oxfam spokesperson said: "Our primary aim was always to root out and take action against those involved and we publicly announced, including to media, both the investigation and the action we took as a result.

"Four members of staff were dismissed as a result of the investigation and three, including the country director, resigned before the end of the investigation."

The Charity Commission has launched a statutory inquiry into Oxfam but no details have yet been released about the extent of this.

National officer for Unite, which represents staff at the headquarters and in Oxfam shops, Siobhan Endean said: "Oxfam staff are dedicated to delivering aid to some of the poorest people in the world and the vast majority are entirely innocent of any wrongdoing. It would be disastrous if recent events led people to stop donating to Oxfam and other charities."

Oxfam is Britain's fifth largest charity and receives £300million a year in government funds and public donations.

International development secretary Penny Mordaunt has threatened funding will be withdrawn unless the charity sorts the issue out properly.

Two arrested over playground death

TWO further arrests have been made in connection with the death of a 16-year-old.

Harun Jama, from Birmingham, was found stabbed near a children's playground in Friars Wharf, Oxford, on January 3.

Craig Ford, 33 of Luther Street, Oxford, has been charged with his murder while Alice Ashcroft, 25 also of Luther Street, has been charged with two counts of possession with intent to supply class A drugs in connection with the death.

They are due to appear for trial at Oxford Crown Court on June 11.

Police have since arrested a 45-year-old woman and a 36-year-old man, both from Oxford, on suspicion of assisting offenders.

The pair have been released under investigation.

A post-mortem examination found the teenager's cause of death to be stab wounds to the abdomen, leg and chest.

Motorist killed

AN elderly man has died after his car came off a rural road near the village of Sunningwell, south of Oxford.

The 71-year-old died at the scene on Friday morning when his black VW Touran left an unclassified rural road linking Oxford Road and Sunningwell.

Police, paramedics, an air ambulance and the fire service were all called to the incident which took place at around 10.30am.

Contact police on 101 if you have any information about the crash.

Knitters enjoy a good yarn at museum

THE River & Rowing Museum at Henley is about to be yarn bombed with colourful creations as part of its latest exhibition.

From today, the museum is displaying the work of Thames Path Together community art project who are celebrating knitting by reflecting the Thames Path and Bridge.

Yarn bombing is a form of street art where public spaces are covered in knitting and crochet.

David Worthington, chair of the museum, said they were delighted to be displaying the colourful creations in the community gallery.

He added: "The work of this talented group is bursting with energy and colour, inspired by our beautiful river side location, and we hope that our visitors will enjoy spotting local landmarks within their display!"

The impressive display for the River & Rowing Museum

Visitors to the museum tomorrow can take part in a free pom pom making session with the help of the yarn bombers.

Finished pom poms will then be hung on the museum's yarn tree.

For more details about the exhibition go to rrm.co.uk

Hand in knives during surrender at police station

POLICE are reminding people that knives can take lives in a campaign to help those wanting to surrender knives in their possession.

Thames Valley Police are targeting knife crime and those who carry knives in the latest phase of Operation Spectre.

A red knife surrender bin has been placed in Abingdon Police Station for members of the public to safely dispose of knives that they wish to give in until this Sunday.

Make sure all knives are safely wrapped in tape and newspaper before putting in the bins.

If you have any information about the possession of knives or criminal activity relating to this type of crime, call 101.

Six-and-a-half years for theft spree

By Samantha McGregor

A PROLIFIC burglar has been jailed for six-and-a-half years' after a crime spree in Bicester last summer.

Michael Sestanovich, 35 of Purslane Drive, Bicester, admitted a string of offences at Oxford Crown Court last month and was sentenced the same day.

Over a two-week period between July 24 and August 8, Sestanovich burgled homes, stole a car, was caught with stolen food and was found in possession of a knife and Class A drugs.

Sestanovich was caught by police and charged in connection with the offences on August 10.

PC Adam Taylor, of the Investigation Hub based at Witney police station, said: "Burglary is a distressing crime for victims which can leave them feeling unsafe in their own homes.

"I am pleased for those who were a victim of Sestanovich who are now able to have a sense that justice has been done and he'll have a significant amount of time in prison to reflect upon the impact of his actions.

"Thames Valley Police will continue to work to ensure every effort is made to bring offenders to court."

Police said on July 24 Sestanovich burgled a home in Lyneham Road, Bicester, and was charged with attempted burglary of another after he was caught on CCTV cycling up to the front door in the same road and trying the door handle.

The same day he kicked the wing mirror of a car parked in Lyneham Road.

About two weeks later, between August 7 and 8, he broke into and burgled two homes, one in Somerville Drive, in Bicester, and another in Nizewell Head, Steeple Aston.

He also stole a Volkswagen Tiguan from the property in Nizewell Head during the burglary.

Sestanovich also admitted two counts of receiving stolen goods and was also caught using stolen debit cards to buy goods in a supermarket using contactless payments.

On August 3 he was seen in possession of a knife in Benson Close, Bicester, and days later on August 8, was found in possession of a wrap of Class A drug heroin.

Michael Sestanovich committed burglaries, stole a car and food and was found to have a knife and heroin

Town honours sporting heroes

SPORTSMEN and women across Chipping Norton have been honoured at the ninth annual sports awards.

A string of awards were presented to celebrate young people's achievements and adults who help run the town's sports clubs at a ceremony at the Town Hall on Friday.

This year's winners included cricketer Jake Brown, who won the under-11 sportsperson award, and gymnast Kitty Hitchens, who picked up the 11 to 17-year-old sportsperson trophy.

Toby Robottom, who plays rugby union, received the over-18 sportsperson award.

Teams receiving awards included Chipping Norton School boys' rugby union under-18 team, Ascott Under Wychwood based Windrush Valley School's trampoline team and the Four Shires Swimming Club.

Chippy Swifts' manager/coach Luke Newman received a gold medal as part of the Olympic Legacy Awards which honour people who help run sports clubs while David Brassett and Richard Ferley, who coach for Chipping Norton Cricket Club, were given silver medals.

Bronze went to Zoe Wakefield for her work to fundraise and promote Four Shires Swimming Club.

Organiser Graham Beacham said a "big thank you" to all those who helped stage the event. He advised people to 'watch out for next year'.

The 10th Annual Town Sports Awards will be on February 8, 2019.

Jewellery stolen

BURGLARS removed a lock from a door and then stole jewellery, cash and a designer handbag.

The haul included two Chinese gold necklaces - one with a rabbit head pendant, cash in Sterling and Euros as well as a red Chanel handbag.

The house, in Barry Avenue, Bicester, was broken in to between 10.30am and 7.45pm on Saturday, February 3.

Anyone with information can call 101, quoting reference 43180036161.

Noel's flying in

NOEL Gallagher's High Flying Birds are the final act to be announced for this year's Nocturne Live concert series at Blenheim Palace.

Joining Nile Rodgers and Chic, Gary Barlow, Elvis Costello, The Waterboys and Nick Lowe on the line-up for the four-day event, the multi-million-selling Oasis star will headline the 10,000-capacity Great Court on Friday, June 15.

Resurfacing work

WITNEY motorists are reminded to allow extra time for journeys next month if they plan on using Mill Street and Burford Road.

Mill Street will be closed from Monday, March 12 for two weeks for resurfacing works.

The alternative route for traffic is via High Street, Welch Way, A4095 Tower Hill and vice versa.

The town council said the centre section of separate works on Curbridge Road will have reopened before Mill Street is closed.

Looking forward to a 'new home'

BROWNIES and girl guides looked on in astonishment as demolition work started on their club headquarters.

Girlguiding Kidlington have used the same building located in an alleyway between Green Road and Oxford Road in Kidlington since 1973.

Now, after years of fundraising to rebuild the venue, bulldozers have moved in.

Sarah Eyles, brownie leader at Girlguiding Kidlington, said: "We want to be able to offer our girls an inspirational and safe space that will allow each one of them to grow in confidence and become the very best version of themselves."

The building acts as 'home' to around 250 girls, young women and leaders, who meet on a weekly basis.

Over time, the wooden doors and windows at the facility have begun rotting and the asbestos cement roofing panels have been sagging under their accumulation of 35 years worth of moss. In 2004, squirrels also got into the roof, further damaging the building.

The group took it upon themselves to deal with it and have spent hours planning and raising £100,000 over the last 10 years to help fund the project.

Cherwell District Council has also loaned the club £100,000 to help reach its goal.

Plans for the building include replacing the single-storey building with a new centre featuring a balcony-style floor for overnight stays.

There will also be improvements made to disabled access.

To donate to the project text GGKI12 £2/£5/£10 to 70070.

Missing girl found

A BICESTER teenager who has been missing since the start of the year has been located after an extensive month long search.

Police had been searching for Linda Finau, 16, from Ambrosden, since she went missing on January 5.

Thames Valley Police said she had been found "safe and well" on Tuesday last week.

Burglary appeal

THIEVES broke in to a house in Buckingham Road, Bicester through an insecure back door and stole an old-style Apple TV Box.

Police are appealing for witnesses after the incident on January 28, between 9am and 10.20pm.

Anyone with information can call 101, quoting reference 43180029084 and ask to speak to investigating officer T8124 Claire Rennie.

Slow down plea

MINSTER Lovell Parish Council has urged motorists to drive carefully in the village after several residents complained about the speed of vehicles travelling in and out of Ripley Avenue.

The council said speed was a particular problem on the road by the play park. Residents are also concerned about pavement access for wheelchairs and pushchairs due to vehicles parking on paths in Wenrisc Drive.

Rural bus service helps put people before cars

By George Welch

A TRANSPORT group has challenged West Oxfordshire District Council to 'put people before cars' by finding a way to expand bus routes to villages without a service.

Bus Users Oxford laid down the gauntlet as the council-supported West Oxfordshire Community Transport group launched its fourth route – the 210 – expanding to five more villages, on Monday.

Stagecoach previously operated bus services in the area until Oxfordshire County Council stopped subsiding them. The service is now run by a team of volunteers.

Hugh Jaeger, chair of Bus Users Oxford, said it does not have to be the county council that provides bus services and has tasked WODC with introducing car parking charges and increasing the council tax to fund more routes.

He said: "Witney Town Council has rightly shown cross-party support and helped to found WOCT. But how has West Oxfordshire District Council helped buses since July 2016?

"Even after WOCT launches route 210, west Oxfordshire will still have substantial villages with no bus service.

"Stanton Harcourt has 950 residents but has had no proper bus service since 2016. A proper Eynsham – Stanton Harcourt – South Leigh – Witney bus, just a few times a day would be enough for villagers to get to work, study, medical appointments and shops."

Mr Jaeger accused the authority of spending council tax on subsidising cars and congestion rather than end the isolation of rural residents.

He added: "Bus Users Oxford challenges WODC to put people before cars. Find a way to put villages such as Stanton Harcourt back on the bus network. It won't break the bank."

WOCT founding director and current chair Laura Price said car parking charges and a district council tax rise are not suitable solutions.

The county and town Labour councillor added that any investment would need to be 'significant' meaning the county council should take more of a responsibility.

WODC leader James Mills dismissed the idea of car parking charges, saying that free parking "has been vital to the success of our local economy".

He added: "Although we support sustainable transport, such as the development of the Hanborough rail station, the reality is that West Oxfordshire is one of the most rural districts in the South East."

WOTC was founded last year to save Witney town routes 213, 214 and 215.

The six-day-a-week 210 route which launched on Monday shuttles between Witney and Chipping Norton via Crawley, Leafield, Ascott-under-Wychwood, Shipton-under-Wychwood and Milton-under-Wychwood.

Swift actions helped to save lives after crash

THE 'swift' actions of a member of the public have been hailed for saving a driver and passenger's life after their car flipped upside down, crashed into a house and then caught fire.

The dramatic crash happened in The Slade in Charlbury just before 9pm on Tuesday last week.

It is not known how fast the car was travelling when it crashed.

Fire crews from Charlbury, Witney and a heavy rescue unit from Kidlington were called into action but the two people in the car had been released by a member of the public before they arrived.

Station manager Chris Barber said: "Drivers have to take extra care and make sure they drive according to the road conditions.

"In this case the occupants of the vehicle were extremely lucky to escape with minor injuries taking into account the level of impact.

"The swift actions of a member of the public helped to prevent tragic consequences."

Fire fighters attended a blaze at a house in Clanfield and while praising the bravery also warned of the risk involved

Neighbours' actions prompt warning

TWO people risked their lives by searching a burning building to rescue their neighbours.

The pair had to be treated by firefighters and paramedics after a home in the small west Oxfordshire village of Clanfield went up in flames shortly after 2.30pm on Wednesday last week.

No one else was injured as the occupants of the Wicks Close home were away.

The worried duo made the daring dash to rescue their neighbours because they thought they were trapped inside.

The fire service issued a strong warning after the blaze, as investigations continue into the cause.

Watch manager Chris Hollis said: "Fortunately nobody was inside the property, which was fitted with working smoke alarms meaning the occupiers should have been able to escape if they had been home when the fire started.

"Efforts were made by neighbours to enter the property and look for the occupiers, in the face of thick black smoke and intense heat.

"While these actions were undoubtedly brave, I must emphasise the extreme risk involved."

He added: "In the event of a fire we would always advise everyone to get out, stay out and call 999 for the fire and rescue service."

It took two firefighters using a thermal imaging camera to search the home and extinguish the fire.

Museum expansion would aid canalside

By Samantha McGregor

PLANS to extend the current Banbury Museum have been recommended for approval by council officers.

The museum wants to expand the building to include extra gallery space, a café, a lecture area, as well as offices, toilets and storage facilities.

The current site was built in 2002 and includes a basement which fronts onto Banbury Canal.

The extension would involve building over the current ramp/loading area at the rear and adding a storey to the permanent exhibition gallery.

At the moment the museum has 1,322 sqm of internal space – the extension will add 2,815 sqm to the inside of the building.

Oxfordshire County Council has raised concerns that the proposal does not include any on-site parking or cycle spaces and without a loading bay, deliveries will "cause an obstruction on a bend, creating a safety hazard" in Spiceball Park Road.

It wants the plans to be held until the road is realigned as part of the canalside development.

Cherwell District Council officers said there was enough nearby public car parking in the town centre to adequately cater for the museum, while large deliveries were "rare" – currently only about four a year.

The council's design and conservation officer said: "The proposed extension is located to the rear of the existing museum and will not therefore impact on the setting of the canal.

"It is anticipated that an enhanced offer at the museum could help to enliven the canalside and active consideration should be given to this in any detailed application."

Although the officer said the additional storey would impact on the canal setting and the design should be "carefully considered".

Banbury Town Council supports the application and the town's civic society welcomed the move saying it was a "long-awaited ambition for the museum and town alike".

Last month Cherwell council signed a deal to buy Castle Quay shopping centre and plans to press ahead with the Castle Quay 2 development on land next to the shopping centre, which includes building a multi-screen cinema, supermarket, restaurants and hotel.

Cherwell planning committee is due to decide the application for the museum tonight.

Swimathon to make a splash for area's charities

THE sixth Thame Swimathon, organised by the Rotary Club of Thame, will take place on Sunday, February 25.

A total of 20 teams have signed up for the event at Thame Leisure Centre from 11am to 3pm.

Teams including Thame Swimming Club, Barley Hill School and John Hampden School, will be fundraising for a range of charities and causes including Thame Rotary's main local charity for 2017-18, SeeSaw, which provides grief support for children across Oxfordshire, including support for schools after a death in their community.

Volunteers from Thame and District Lions Club, Thame Inner Wheel and Wheatley Park Interact Club will be supporting Thame Rotarians with the counting of lengths swum by teams.

Wii! It's winter sports fun

AN Oxfordshire charity is gearing up for a winter sports gaming marathon to rival the Olympics.

Video gamers will take on the challenge on Saturday next week to raise money for SpecialEffect.

The Rotaract Club of Oxford is inviting teams of up to four to participate in a series of winter sports on Mario & Sonic at the Olympic Winter Games on the Nintendo Wii games console.

Natasha Yelland, Rotaract Club of Oxford's President, said: "With the Winter Olympics in PyeongChang closing on the same weekend, we thought it would be a great idea to celebrate with a little winter sport action of our own to raise money for a fantastic charity."

The event has been organised as part of GameBlast18, the UK's largest marathon weekend, backed by big names in the games industry and aims to raise £100,000.

Tom Donegan, event co-ordinator at SpecialEffect, said GameBlast will "level the playing field for people with disabilities" and sponsorship raised would "change the lives of many".

Teams can register online to take part at the Northcourt Centre in Abingdon at http://oxfordrotaract.co.uk/gameblast18.

The charity supports people with disabilities by providing them with specialised games consoles and video games.

Budget rise to protect vulnerable

By Owen Hughes

COUNCILLORS in Oxfordshire will each be given a £15,000 budget to spend how they see fit following Tuesday's county council cabinet meeting.

Each of the 63 county councillors were given their own Councillor Priority Fund for projects in their area.

It was also revealed at the meeting that council tax will rise by an additional one per cent to deal with the extra pressure of social care.

Council leader Ian Hudspeth said the council was not "raising taxes unnecessarily" and would ensure the money was spent "efficiently".

In providing the £15,000 councillor funds, he said it "will deliver local solutions by county councillors who know their divisions best.

"I am sure many will view highway maintenance and repair as important but others might choose to put funding in to community buses, libraries or children's centres."

Oxfordshire County Council recently received nearly £1million from the government's Pothole Action Fund following the deterioration of roads during the winter cold snap.

Mr Hudspeth said: "For the first time, we have created a 10-year capital programme so we can take a longer view of the costs and benefits of road repairs."

He added the government cash for the roads will free up money that would have been spent on maintenance to be used elsewhere.

The cabinet also set aside £30,000 for First World War centenary commemorations and will reinvest funds from the additional one per cent Council Tax rise in social care.

Richard Webber, leader of the Liberal Democrat Group, said: "The only way to afford the multi-million pound solutions to our adult and child social care crisis, our roads, and the isolation felt by so many, is to return to the issue of unitary government for Oxfordshire."

A proposal to extend the £500,000 contribution for the homeless for an extra year in 2019/20 is subject to consultation.

Bus driver sentenced

A WALLINGFORD bus driver who knocked a pedestrian over when he lost control of his double-decker has been handed a suspended jail sentence and a 24-month driving ban.

Cheikh Daouda Senghor, 41 of St Johns Road, admitted dangerous driving on June 24 last year.

Simon Smith miraculously managed to get up and walk into the Purple Turtle bar in Reading after being struck by the bus on Gun Street.

CCTV footage of Mr Smith being knocked over, picking himself up and going into the bar went viral.

Senghor was jailed for eight months, suspended for a year, at a Reading Crown Court appearance last week.

He was ordered to carry out 250 hours' unpaid work and undergo a rehabilitation activity requirement for five days.

He will also have to take an extended driving test at the end of his ban.

Vulnerable people hit by cuts to day centres

By Owen Hughes

FURTHER cuts to a day care facility could threaten the welfare of vulnerable people in north Oxfordshire, a councillor for the area has warned.

Banbury Cross and Neithrop councillor Surinder Dhesi said she is "seriously concerned" for the safety of her constituents should Oxfordshire County Council place any more strain on the Redlands Daytime Support centre.

The council opened an eight-week public consultation at the end of January seeking views on proposals to alter the way it charges for adult social care.

Cllr Dhesi said: "The likelihood of a positive outcome of this review is minimal because the county council is having to make further cuts in expenditure demanded by the Conservative government."

The consultation summary document claims the council spends more than £300million a year supporting vulnerable adults but it could achieve savings "in the region of £1.5m" if service users could partially cover costs themselves.

Councillor Surinder Dhesi fears for the safety of vulnerable people in north Oxfordshire if further cuts are made to services

Proposals include the introduction of a more standardised disability related expenditure assessment, a £210 annual arrangement fee for the ongoing provision of care, and removal of services the council is not obliged to provide to "people with no eligible needs".

Cllr Dhesi added: "To save money last year, the county council closed Stanbridge Wellbeing Centre and offered people places in Redlands, which catered for people with disabilities.

"The result – a much changed and unsatisfactory experience for previous users of the Stanbridge centre, including the lack of catering facilities which meant many users are deprived of their only hot meal of the day.

"Moving these two groups of vulnerable people into the same building at Redlands was a mistake motivated by cost cutting, not their welfare.

"I am seriously concerned for my constituents and everyone else who relied on these day-care centres, which provided safe, warm and loving environments with much needed social interaction and mental stimulation."

The council consultation documents state "no one would be left with less than the minimum level of income stipulated in the Care Act 2014 to live on".

The full consultation can be viewed on the council's website: https://consultations.oxfordshire.gov.uk/consult.ti/contributions/consultation-home

Aliens and space buggies are just two of the features golfers will encounter at Gravitee Golf

A golf course, far, far away

SPACE rockets, Martians and black holes – it is time for lift off in Oxford as a new crazy golf adventure gets ready to open its doors.

Gravitee Golf will crash land into the first floor of the Ozone Leisure Complex in Blackbird Leys, next to the Kassam Stadium, from Saturday.

The final touches to the £750,000 space project are being applied, with two 18-hole courses set to take astronauts on an out-of-this-world journey.

Crazy golfers will have to battle their way through four zones, putting on a space dock, inside a spaceship, on a Mars landing site and, just for good measure, in a mysterious forest planet following a crash landing.

A UV room of six holes, which took more than six weeks to perfect, along with a satellite and space buggy, add to the extra-terrestrial experience.

Co-owner Alistair Burnett, 27, said: "We wanted to do something that has not been done before in the industry.

£1,500 fine for housing fraud

By George Welch

A FRAUDSTER who conned her way into a council house has been thrown out after admitting she already owned a three-bedroom home.

Gillian Norris lived in social housing in Great Milton, eastern Oxfordshire, for more than four years, having fraudulently applied via the housing register.

The 46-year-old has been fined £1,530 after councils discovered she already owned a home in Holyhead, Wales, at the time of applying. Had she disclosed this she would not have been eligible for council housing.

Representatives from South Oxfordshire District Council and Oxford City Council accused Norris of 'depriving a family in genuine need of a house', stressing social housing fraud is not a 'victimless crime'.

Norris, of Green Hitchings in Great Milton, pleaded guilty at Oxford Magistrates' Court last month to knowingly or recklessly making a false statement in connection to the allocation of housing.

It is the first time someone has been convicted for housing fraud in south Oxfordshire.

Magistrates heard she had been living in the three-bedroom SOHA Housing home, and had been renting out her other home to a family member.

She was caught following an anonymous tip-off.

Following her guilty plea on January 30, Norris was fined £250 and ordered to pay £1,250 and a £30 victim surcharge.

Jane Murphy, deputy leader of the district council, said: "Social housing is there to provide a vital resource for those who are in genuine need and do not have the money available to rent a home privately.

"We have a significant housing shortage, not just in south Oxfordshire but across the country, with people really struggling to find appropriate accommodation.

"By making and maintaining this fraudulent claim this lady has effectively deprived a family in genuine need of a house."

Ed Turner, deputy leader of the city council, added: "Social housing fraud is not a victimless crime, as it means people in housing need spend longer on housing waiting lists and in temporary accommodation.

"We hope it sends a clear signal that housing fraudsters will not be tolerated in Oxfordshire."

The councils are now working towards making the property available again on the housing register.

Thieves force driver to hand over van keys

A VAN driver was unharmed after thieves threatened him while demanding he handed over the keys.

The 31-year-old victim was loading the van in the quiet Oxford side street of Blackburn Close in Headington when he noticed two people in a black Vauxhall Corsa drive past before turning around and parking nearby.

Police said a man got out of the Corsa and threatened the victim before demanding the van keys at about 4.15pm on Friday last week.

He handed over the keys and the robber drove off in the van heading down London Road and Lime Walk, followed by the Corsa.

The victim was not injured and the carjackers have been described as Asian men aged between 20 and 30.

Police said the offender who demanded the keys is about 5ft 7ins tall with a slim build. He was wearing a black jacket and a black woollen hat.

The other had a large build and was also wearing a black woollen hat.

The stolen van is a silver Vauxhall Vivaro and the Corsa is black with tinted windows.

All in a day's work for the fire service

FIREFIGHTERS often have to rescue creatures great and small as part of their job and last week that ranged from snakes to a horse.

Crews from Banbury and Hook Norton used thermal imaging cameras to track down scores of snakes that had escaped from their housing during a blaze.

The fire at the four-storey property in Middleton Road, Banbury, which started in the basement, was "rapidly spreading" to the ground floor.

It was only once crews had put out the fire and used a specialist fan to remove the smoke that they discovered the snakes had escaped.

About 100 snakes were recovered by fire fighters and were reunited with their owner for rehoming.

Watch manager John Callaway said: "We quickly established that the snakes were non-venomous and that no specialist assistance was needed.

"It was unfortunate that some hadn't survived the fire but many were saved."

An investigation carried out by the Fire Service determined the cause was an electrical fault.

Police also attended the incident and closed the road and supported residents.

Firefighters from four stations across the county were called to help a horse found roaming in a swimming pool in Didcot on Saturday, pictured right.

Crews had to drain the pool to free the equine, called Mackie, before a vet then helped to free the horse in the safest way.

Joined-up service would help patients

By George Welch

THE absence of effective teamwork in the health and social care system is holding back improvements to Oxfordshire's patient care, according to a new report by the health watchdog.

A review by the Care Quality Commission revealed that, although staff are dedicated, there was a lack of joined-up thinking between the five organisations responsible for providing care across the county.

According to the CQC, the lack of collaboration has led to a 'fragmented system' where there was duplication of effort and, at times, a reactive attitude to meeting standards.

The report, published on Monday, did however praise a "highly dedicated" workforce that 'goes the extra mile' and acknowledged an "increased ambition" among health leaders.

The review, carried out by three reviewers, an analyst and five specialist advisors, said: "In Oxfordshire we found that there was a lack of whole system strategic planning and commissioning with little collaboration between system partners.

"Although there was increased ambition to work together, system leaders continued to face significant challenges in coming together to formalise their ambitions through a joint strategic approach."

Inspectors visited services provided by Oxfordshire County Council, Oxford Health NHS Foundation Trust, Oxfordshire Clinical Commissioning Group, Oxford University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust and South Central Ambulance Service NHS Foundation Trust in November and December last year.

CQC assessors found the problems of recruiting care staff in Oxfordshire, which has a very high cost of living, were holding back improvement, as were incompatible computer systems across different organisations.

North Oxfordshire MP Victoria Prentis, who has long battled closures at the Horton General Hospital in Banbury, said the report was the "reality check the system needed".

However, the inspectors found that Oxfordshire had made progress in tackling 'delayed transfers of care', where people are unable to leave hospital when they are medically fit to do so.

The county also achieves a good or outstanding CQC rating across all areas of health and social care, which is above the national average.

The CQC highlighted three key areas of improvements. Recommendations include making services more local, improving information available to people who fund their own care and investing more in recruitment and retention of care staff.

Pub attack leaves man with injuries

A MAN was left with facial and dental injuries after being glassed in a Cowley bar during the early hours of the morning last month.

The 21-year-old victim was sat with friends in a booth at The Baron bar on Cowley Road, Oxford, at around 1.10am on January 30 when the offender approached the group and sat up against him.

He became aggressive when he was asked to move, smashing a glass on the floor before throwing a pint glass at the victim's face.

He then head-butted another man in the group leaving him with minor injuries before exiting the bar.

Police have now released a CCTV image of a man, above, who could have 'vital' information relating to the attack.

Investigating officer PC Dave Black urged anyone with information to contact them as soon as possible.

"I would like to speak to the man in this image as I believe he could have vital information about this incident."

Call the police on 101 quoting 43170348992 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555111.

Bags packed to help homeless

By Owen Hughes

AN Oxford woman is donating backpacks full of essentials to tackle the city's homeless crisis.

Rachel Barrett, 21, of Kidlington, organised the Give Back with a Pack GoFundMe campaign to provide backpacks filled with vital supplies for rough sleepers and has already received £50 towards her £250 goal.

Rachel, who works part time as a receptionist, said: "I have some time to spare in the afternoons and thought why not use it do things to try and help people?

"I saw a post on Facebook of a young boy who was giving backpacks full of essential items and food to the homeless community in his area, and thought it would be a really good idea to bring to our city.

"I have ordered three backpacks and will soon be filling them with items to give away to the homeless community in Oxford city centre."

Among the items are socks, hand sanitiser, soap, toothbrush and paste, lip balm, a comb, nail clippers, plasters, sanitary products, tissues and a washcloth.

The backpack will also contain food such as a granola bar, a bag of nuts and dried fruit, instant noodles and porridge, crisps, cookies, bottles of water and disposable cutlery.

The fundraiser follows Prime Minister Theresa May's decision not to back Oxford West and Abingdon MP Layla Moran's campaign to scrap the "Dickensian" Vagrancy Act 1824.

Ms Moran, who presented the repeal to the House of Commons on Wednesday last week, said: "I am disappointed that the Prime Minister won't back my campaign to change the law to end the criminalisation of rough sleepers. I'll be keeping up the pressure on the government and will continue the fight."

Oxford City Council provided emergency shelters for rough sleepers earlier this week due to below-zero overnight temperatures.

Rachel has also signed up to The Good Neighbour Scheme to support vulnerable elderly people.

She added: "I think we need to take more care of our vulnerable people and help in any small way we can.

"It only takes one person to make a big difference to someone's life."

Sixth formers Louis and Jenna are given expert advice from Simon Keenlyside at Kingham Hill School

Pupils' opera masterclass

PUPILS were given a vocal masterclass by opera star Simon Keenlyside when he visited an Oxfordshire school.

Pupils at Kingham Hill School's music department were put through their paces singing a variety of operatic arias.

Each singer then had the opportunity to speak with Mr Keenlyside and get expert advice on vocal technique and feedback on their performances.

Mark Glanville, peripatetic vocal teacher at the Chipping Norton school, said: "Simon is one of the outstanding classical singers of his generation, acclaimed equally as a superlative opera singer who brings the detail of a great theatrical actor to his roles, and as one of the foremost recital singers of our day.

"These qualities make him the ideal person to pass on a vast reservoir of experience and knowledge to the next generation.

"It was a privilege to have Simon give a masterclass at Kingham Hill."

Mr Keenlyside has been performing opera across the globe since the late 1980s and has worked with the Vienna State Opera, the Royal Opera House and Metropolitan Opera in New York.

Graduate fails in £1m bid to sue for degree

AN Oxford graduate has failed in his bid to sue the university for £1million after missing out on a top degree.

Faiz Siddiqui, 39, of Bayswater, west London, said "inadequate teaching" at Brasenose College resulted in a low mark in his final year history paper nearly 20 years ago.

He alleged that his failure to achieve a first – he graduated with a 2:1 in 2000 – cost him entry into a top US law college and a lucrative career as a top international commercial lawyer, causing him to suffer from severe depression.

But High Court judge Justice Foskett dismissed the claim on Wednesday last week and said he was not convinced the teaching was "negligently inadequate".

Mr Foskett accepted Mr Siddiqui had suffered from severe depression but said it could not be attributed to his degree result as there was no evidence he was depressed or suffering insomnia at the time of the exams.

A spokesperson for Oxford University said it welcomed the court's judgement.

"History has been studied and taught with distinction at Oxford for longer than at almost any other university and the quality and range of its history teaching and examining across the collegiate university has long been widely recognised."

Inquest finds flats explosion 'likely to be accidental' but neighbours demand answers

Petrol stored in flat was used to 'clean car parts'

By Eva Astreinidou

AN explosion caused by a man who stored litres of fuel in his West Oxford flat is most likely to have been accidental.

A day-long inquest into the death of Guide Schuette who died in the blast at the flats in Gibbs Crescent on Valentine's Day last year, heard he stored petrol in the flat to clean car parts with.

Coroner Darren Salter said: "The cause of the explosion was likely to have been caused from the ignition of petrol vapour while he sat in the flat, from a naked flame of smoking or a spark from a homemade electrical device.

"[It is clear] he used to test car components kept within the flat."

In the days leading up to the explosion, which destroyed three flats at Gibbs Crescent, Mr Schuette was heard screaming about his 'master' and threatening to burn the flat down.

In statements read by a mental health team, who assessed him at the scene on February 10, Mr Schuette said: "Yes I did say it, but doesn't mean I would do it. I have never set anything on fire."

The explosion at the flats in Gibbs Crescent last year Picture: Alexander Hammonds

Mr Salter told Oxford Coroners Court: "What concerns me is that he was heard saying he was going to burn the flat down days before and it can't be potentially ruled out that it was caused deliberately.

"Although as I say I think it is less likely."

The court heard from members of the mental health assessment team, who said that after the incident, Mr Schuette was put on a 'step-up' mental health programme.

The team attended his flat in the days leading up to the explosion, but deemed he was not showing any signs of a psychotic episode or signs of unpredictable behaviour.

Mr Salter added that Mr Schuette's original intention could have been to 'up the ante' as he felt he was not listened to following a series of noise complaints against a neighbour.

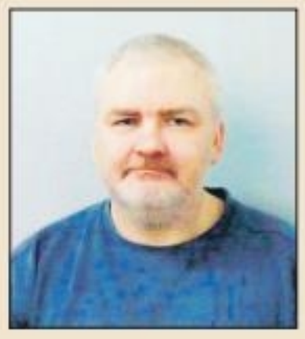
The remains of Mr Schuette, 46, were found in rubble on February 18, four days after the blast.

His cause of death was recorded as burns and injuries consistent with an explosion.

'More could have been done'

DISAPPOINTED residents living in the block of flats say more could have been done to prevent the explosion.

The blast, which was caused by the ignition of large quantities of fuel stored in Guido Schuette's flat were said to 'most likely' have been an accident.



The court heard the housing provider A2Dominion had previously asked Mr Schuette, pictured, to remove fuel it was aware he had stored in a communal area of the building – but had not visited his flat.

The court also heard how Mr Schuette had long on-going disputes with one of his neighbours and was reported to have been racially abusive.

Annie May who lived in the flat above, said after the inquest that she had been threatened by Mr Schuette and that she feared for her safety. She added she had made several requests to A2Dominion to be moved.

Several complaints had been filed against him to A2 Dominion, which owns the block of flats at Gibbs Crescent.

Speaking at the inquest, Dawn Wightman, housing director at A2Dominion, said the company had no knowledge of how Mr Schuette was using his flat.

After the inquest, she said:"Our focus now is on continuing to support the residents of Gibbs Crescent and moving forward with our plans to restore and improve the estate."

Cllr Susanna Pressel, who was at the inquest, said: "I feel that the mental health service, the police and the housing association should all have done much more to support Mr Schuette in the years before the explosion.

"He racially abused his neighbour, Annie May, for 14 years and they allowed this to continue, even when she said that her life was in danger. She begged A2Dominion, the housing association, to move either her or him away, but they didn't. It was only by a lucky chance that she didn't die with him."

A2 Dominion says it has begun work to redevelop the flats and has been consulting with residents on its plans.

A pre-application is due to be submitted to Oxford City Council.

Take a Perch in new offices

By Samantha McGregor

A NEW type of office aimed at supporting entrepreneurs, small businesses and self-employed people has opened its doors in Bicester.

Called Perch, the site offers "metropolitan style" co-working space for up to 67 people and has opened in a former retail unit in Franklins House, in Pioneer Square.

The project has been led by Cherwell District Council and is the first of two co-working spaces the council is opening in the town.

Perch, which is fully owned by the council but run by an external operator Point of Difference, opened on Tuesday last week and it is hoped the move will give the town centre a boost.

Cllr Lynn Pratt, pictured, Cherwell's lead member for estates and the economy said: "We saw this project as an opportunity to collaborate with local tradespeople, not only to provide work during the construction of the space, but to then provide residents with a space to work from in the long term.

"We have invested in Bicester as its continued growth brings more people to the area and as a result a higher demand for flexible work space.

"We are delighted that Bicester Vision also chose to invest in this project, and are providing sponsored desk space for Bicester businesses."

Perch offers hot desks, access to meeting rooms and refreshment facilities for a membership fee. There will also be a number of networking opportunities each month.

Residents of Bicester who own a company may also be eligible for a sponsored membership via Bicester Vision.

Co-working offices are designed for people who work from home, are self-employed, or who have started small businesses, to work together, exchange ideas and build a community.

The office space was designed in conjunction with local businesses and craftspeople.

Separately, the council is also funding and building an eco business centre at the north west Bicester eco town site.

Holiday Inn to expand

PLANS for a 64-room expansion at a north Oxford hotel have been approved.

Holiday Inn on the Peartree Roundabout will be redeveloped with the existing wing of the hotel which contains the fitness suite being demolished to make way for a four-storey extension.

The work will increase the number of rooms from 154 to 218 and a small gym and meeting rooms will also be built.

The expansion will offer employment for 10 more employees, bringing the total to 40.

Objectors complained about the excessive height of the proposed development, insufficient parking and a loss of leisure facilities. These were dismissed by Oxford City Council planning officers.

Architects Dexter Moren Associates has designed the extension to the site to the east of Woodstock Road and the A34.

Director Mark Wood said: "Small is beautiful. Clients are increasingly approaching us to develop and enhance parts of their existing hotel portfolio. This extension will provide high quality facilities within a contemporary extension that sits harmoniously within its setting."

DMA said soft yellow brick and lighter stonework would be used alongside large windows to make it more attractive.

There is also a three-storey Travelodge hotel at Peartree Interchange Services, to the south of Holiday Inn.

Plans to expand Holiday Inn to 218 rooms have been given the go ahead

InBrief

Naming charge

CHERWELL District Council has started charging developers £25 to name a new street and number new homes.

Previously the council swallowed the charge. Cllr Colin Clarke, Cherwell's lead member for planning, said: "Of the five planning authorities in Oxfordshire, Cherwell is the only council that doesn't already apply this charge so it will be no great shock to developers."

Since February 2013, 316 new streets have been created in Cherwell district, a cost of £7,900 to the council.

Legally the council cannot make a profit from the service but it must ensure the council's costs are met.

Kebab awards

FOR the second year running, Thame's Atalay Kebab Van has been shortlisted in the Kebab Van of the Year category at the sixth British Kebab Awards.

Townspeople are being urged to vote to help the business retain its crown as the best Kebab Van in Britain.

Winners helping to drive bus company

LONG service and exceptional performance was honoured as bus drivers picked up accolades at the inaugural and fantastically named The Really Amazing Awards.

The Oxford Bus Company celebrated the achievements of its staff in a ceremony, which also recognised sister companies Thames Travel and Carousel, at the Ashmolean Sculpture Gallery on Thursday last week.

Colleagues directly nominated the winners, bar the Long Service Award, from a shortlist of three in seven categories.

The winners are:
A Team: Carousel Engineering
Customer Hero: Steve Chadwick
Embracing Innovation: Sam De Gouveia
Health, Safety, Well-being: Gary Merralls
Rising Star: Valentina Tachy
Star of the Year: Geoff High
Unsung Hero: Mark Adams

Long Service:
25 years: Tim Curry, Mounir Hanna, Shahid Shah, Dave Gibbs, Charlie King, Graham Clarke, Gordon Boland and Ray Woodhouse
35 Years: Ron Friend

The event, hosted by comedian Joel Dommett, is about "recognising and rewarding those who bring the 'best version of themselves' to work," according to Phil Southall, The Oxford Bus Company's managing director.

He added: "We have so many great people doing excellent work day in, day out and this can too easily go unnoticed."

Have your say on healthcare

WANT to have a say in how healthcare is delivered in your area?

Oxford Health NHS Foundation Trust is holding a series of roadshow events to engage with patients, carers, colleagues and members of the public to help mould the future of healthcare provision.

People interested in joining the trust can become a member of the council of governors and represent the views of the public in their area.

Community involvement manager at the trust, Julie Pink said: "By voting for a governor, or volunteering to stand as a governor themselves, individuals are able to shape the future of our trust and have their voices heard on important local healthcare topics."

Membership registration is free and can be done online or at one of the roadshow events.

Upcoming events will be hosted at: Abingdon Community Hospital on Tuesday from midday to 3pm; Wallingford Community Hospital on March 1 from 9am to 12pm; Townlands Community Hospital, Henley, from 1pm to 4pm; Bicester Community Hospital on March 5 from 10am to 1pm and Witney Community Hospital on March 26 between 9am and midday.

Body cameras to prevent abuse

RECYCLING centre staff in Oxfordshire will be given body worn cameras to better protect them from abusive users.

Employees at seven household waste recycling centres in the county will adopt the wearable kit similar to that worn by the police, parking enforcement and trading standards.

Oxfordshire County Council said the cameras have encouraged positive interaction with the public and hopes the devices will discourage intimidating or abusive situations from escalating, capturing evidence if it does.

The cameras will be worn as part of standard work uniform but will not record all the time.

Members of staff will need to inform the person when they intend to turn the cameras on.

More than 1.25million people visited the sites last year with around 20 escalated reports of physical and verbal abuse by a member of the public on recycling centre staff.

County councillor Yvonne Constance, cabinet member for environment, said: "The safety of our staff and customers is our number one priority and using this technology will only be an enhancement.

"Knowing that you could be filmed could for many people be enough to make them think twice before they act."

Redbridge Waste Recycling Centre in Oxford will be the first to adopt the recording gear.

Charity of the year 2018 – Helen & Douglas House

Reality TV star's big gift to boost funding

By George Welch

BIG Brother star Craig Phillips is not one to shy away from grand gestures, as the series one winner becomes the latest to throw his support behind under-pressure Helen & Douglas House.

The property developer gave away all his prize money when he was crowned winner of the reality TV show in 2000 – and 18 years on he is still proving to be an exceptionally good guy.

Craig said 'I do' to girlfriend Laura Sherriff as the couple tied the knot in front of 200 guests at Cheshire's Peckforton Castle on Friday with the newly-weds thinking of others on their big day too.

The couple asked that instead of gifts, guests donate cash to Helen & Douglas House, our charity of the year, which cares for terminally ill children and young people.

The 46-year-old said it was Laura's brother Daniel who was diagnosed with a brain tumour just after he was born, who inspired them.

He said: "He battled with the disease for three years and towards the end of his short life, he was in a lot of pain but there was nothing more the doctors could do for him.

"This is when Laura's mum remembered hearing about Helen & Douglas House.

"Offering Daniel a place to get the care he deserved, within 10 minutes of his arrival the hospice had done what the local doctors couldn't, they gave Daniel a place to find comfort and gave Laura's family the chance to make the most of the time they had left with their son."

The couple, who jetted off for a skiing honeymoon to Colorado, will also auction Laura's wedding dress to raise even more funds.

Kay Honner, from Helen & Douglas House, said it was "wonderful" to meet Craig and Laura on their visit to the hospice earlier this month.

She added: "It is so very kind of them to ask for donations to Helen & Douglas House rather than receive wedding gifts.

"The money they raise will make a huge difference to the lives of local terminally ill children and their families at Helen House."

Craig Phillips and wife Laura are asking guests to donate cash to Helen & Douglas House instead of giving gifts – they will be launching Mr and Mrs DIY, a digital platform offering tips on a range of home and garden jobs after their honeymoon Wedding photograph: www.philipburkephotography.com

Last month Helen & Douglas House reluctantly announced it would close Douglas House in Magdalen Road in August, warning the entire hospice would be forced to close in two years if it did not take drastic action to slash expenditure.

Put on your dancin' shoes and join in

A FUSION of dance styles will be showcased across the city as Oxford's annual spring dance festival promises to be 'as inclusive and adventurous as ever'.

The Dancin' Oxford extravaganza will return to the city streets between March 2 and 11, bringing an energetic mix of contemporary choreography.

Now in its 12th year, the 10-day festival has vowed to deliver a jam-packed programme, including a 24-hour danceathon, workshops for children and families and a football-inspired hip hop performance.

The city council's dance officer Claire Thompson described the billing as a "treat" that "should suit all tastes".

She said: "Each festival has its strengths and this spring one is no different.

"For our annual free event in the city centre we are upending the dance floor for a series of aerial performances danced to a driving musical score. What a treat."

There will be a record number of professional companies involved, lots of taster sessions plus, for the first time, aerial performances on the Westgate Shopping Centre façade.

The festival will launch with Gecko's The Wedding at the Oxford Playhouse, described as a thought-provoking play about 'forced marriage' and social contracts.

Joining a larger trust will help to improve schools

By George Welch

THE multi-academy trust that runs three primary schools in Blackbird and Greater Leys will join a larger schools group.

Blackbird Academy Trust (BAT) schools, which oversees more than 1,000 pupils at Orchard Meadow School, Pegasus School and Windale Community School, will transition to United Learning by the end of the academic year.

Trustees and the three headteachers of the trio of schools agreed that working with a bigger trust would improve the quality of the schools in the long term.

Chris Jones, chairman of BAT, said: "It is our responsibility to secure high performance over the long term and we concluded some time ago that this could best be achieved under a bigger parent trust with deeper resources.

"After very thorough review we are delighted to have reached agreement with United Learning to merge BAT schools with them.

"United Learning has the track record, the resources and the values which we believe will greatly benefit the pupils, staff and parents of Orchard Meadow, Windale and Pegasus."

United Learning already runs schools in Banbury, including North Oxfordshire Academy and Hanwell Fields Community School, as well as other academies and independent schools across the country.

Its chief executive, Jon Coles, said the partnership would speed up improvements at the Oxford schools.

In the latest Ofsted reports, Orchard Meadow and Windale are deemed as requiring improvement while Pegasus was considered as good by inspectors.

Mr Coles said: "There is a great deal to admire about the three schools and we know how popular they are with local families.

"There are, of course, also areas for further improvement that the schools are ambitious to achieve.

"By being part of our group, they will be able to retain everything that is currently successful while accessing the sharing of expertise, best practice and operational management that our schools benefit from and that will help them drive up improvement at pace."

TOP dog Magic Mike was jumping for joy after storming to success at one of the UK's largest dog shows.

The 18-month-old Petit Basset Griffon Vendéen beat 9,381 other dogs to claim the title at the prestigious Manchester Championship Dog Show in Stafford last month.

Magic Mike was led to victory in the Best in Show category by owner Sara Robertson from Wallingford.

"It was such an amazing feeling of joy and pride when Mike was chosen as the Best in Show winner," she said.

"You picture it happening but never think it will be your own dog which gets selected. Mike is such a sweet boy."

Success runs in the family too – Sara's husband Gavin handled Mike's mother Jilly to the Best in Show title at Crufts in 2013.

The rough-coated Petit Basset Griffon Vendéen was originally bred to trail hare in the bramble-filled terrain of the Vendée district of western France. They are known to be active, happy, independent and willing to please.

Mum-of-two Sara added: "PBGVs are a breed which enjoys life regardless of what sort of day you may be having yourself – they always make you smile."

Williams helps to engineer future careers

GROVE-BASED Formula One team Williams is hoping to "kick start a skills revolution" by encouraging young people to pursue a career in the industry.

Williams is backing the Government's Year of Engineering 2018 campaign to raise the industry's profile among seven to 16 year olds as a viable career option.

The campaign promotes STEM subjects among young people to improve mathematics and science skills.

Williams has previously offered initiatives such as the Williams Engineering Academy, Autosport Williams Engineer of the Future award, and internships and apprenticeships to give students a head start in a career in Formula One.

Human resources director, Nicola Salter, said: "For 40 years, Williams has been at the forefront of engineering innovation.

"Many of the sport's legendary engineering figures began their career at Williams so we know the importance of nurturing and developing engineering talent.

"To inspire, encourage and attract a new generation of engineering stars, we a delighted to be supporting the Year of Engineering, which we believe could kick start a skills revolution."

Go back to the 80s for hospice

By George Welch

BUILDING work on a new state-of-the-art clinic will begin this spring as the county's largest hospice launches a campaign to fund its first room.

The expansion of Sobell House, based at the Churchill Hospital, will allow more people facing the end of their life to have access to specialist palliative care when they need it.

Building one room in the new clinic will cost £50,000 and the hospice is hoping this year's Moonlight Stroll event – its 12th annual fundraiser – will be one of its biggest to date.

Hundreds of night time walkers are being encouraged to don big hair, loud clothing and even dig out their old Walkman as this year's theme goes all 1980s.

The stroll might not be until June 23 but, officially launched last month, the appeal has already received the backing of 80s icon Tony Hadley.

The former Spandau Ballet frontman has encouraged everyone to get their funky 80s attire on and enjoy the nine-mile walk.

He said: "Back in the New Romantic period we wanted to be different, we used to enjoy surprising and shocking people with what we wore.

"We wanted to make a statement and get people to look at us. That's my challenge to all you 80s fans out there – get your New Romantic gear out and join the walk."

The 57-year-old added: "The wonderful work that Sobell House Hospice does makes a true and significant difference to the lives of families affected by life-limiting and terminal illness.

"The team creates some wonderful and lasting memories for the families who need this vital hospice care service."

Kevin Game, a fundraiser at Sobell House, has organised all 12 Moonlight Stroll events.

He said there are 1,000 places available and that this year's target is a whopping £100,000.

Sobell House is in the third year of a four-year plan to invest £9million to increase its service, £5million of which has already been raised.

Overall, the multi-million pound investment is funding an expansion of hospice care throughout the county in Oxfordshire's four main hospitals.

The additional £4million is sought through community fundraising, corporate support and its charity shops.

For more information about the Moonlight Stroll event register at www.sobellhouse.org.

Sobell House said more information about its expansion will be revealed in due course.

Charity working with teachers to raise awareness of mutilation

AN Oxford charity against Female Genital Mutilation (FGM) met young people last week to raise awareness of the dangers posed to children.

Oxford Against Cutting is a charity working to help prevent FGM of girls and women living in Oxfordshire and the South East.

The charity marked the United Nation's International Day of Zero Tolerance for FGM by meeting children and handing out a new toolkit to primary school teachers.

The toolkit supports teachers in talking about FGM and body rights with children to help end female circumcision.

Fatou Ceesay, community outreach director for Oxford Against Cutting, said: "FGM is a harmful practice that at least 3.6million girls are at risk of experiencing in the next 12 months globally.

"OAC will support teachers to encourage children to talk to teachers, school nurses, or anyone they feel safe with at school, if they are worried about FGM or any type of bodily or sexual harm."

OAC has received grants from Oxford City Council of more than £4,500 over the past 12 months.

Councillor Tom Hayes said the council takes a "zero-tolerance approach to FGM" and the grants "renew our commitment to ending it".

Call the NSPCC on 0800 028 3550 or email fgmhelp@nspcc.org.uk if you or someone you know may be at risk of FGM.

Donate furniture

RESIDENTS are being urged to donate their old furniture to help others in a new initiative.

Sanctuary Housing and Cherwell District Council have helped fund the Faithworks Furniture Project, which collects and restores furniture and white goods that are no longer wanted and redistributes them to those in need.

The project, run by volunteers from Banbury Community Church, has already helped almost 650 families in the Banbury area, with items such as washing machines, armchairs, sofas and dining tables.

To find out more, or to donate furniture, call 07979 043851 or email sheena@makinglifework.co.uk

Units approved

THE £40m redevelopment of Grove Business Park continued last week after 10 units were approved.

This is the next phase in the transformation of the 32-acre business park which is set to double the building area to 400,000 sq ft.

The latest buildings to be approved total 36,000 sq ft and range from 1,900 sq ft to 6,700 sq ft.

FENCING FEATURE ADVERTISEMENT

"I honestly believe that Colourfence is the best general purpose fencing product on the market today!"

Get ready for Winter

Now's the perfect time to replace your garden fence once and for all. Anna Ryder Richardson - Designer and Television Presenter - takes a closer look at Colourfence, the revolutionary low-maintenance system.

It's been ten years since I regularly graced TV screens helping transform people's living spaces with MDF and stripped floorboards. Recently it's been more "celebrity muck out" than "celebrity make-over" as I took up the challenge of owning my own Wildlife Zoo in Tenby. In this time I've learnt quiet a lot about fences and having researched the various options for my own benefit I thought I would share my knowledge with a wider audience.

The latest design processes mean there is now a tremendous array of fencing products for you to choose from, constructed from a variety of materials. Each has its own attributes, and ultimately it can often come down to a matter of personal preference. For me, there was one unique system that stood out as providing the best balance between price and functionality which eradicates fencing problems for good. Or for at least 25 years. Colourfence. For quality, value, longevity, aesthetic design, this fencing system ticks all the boxes. Fencing made for the 21st century that will transform the look of your garden which is supplied and fitted by a company whose customer service is as good as the product.

In my view, Colourfence is the 'Rolls Royce' of fencing – just without the exclusive price tag. What's more, it's guaranteed to stay in place in up to 130mph winds and is virtually maintenance free.

To find out how the experts from Colourfence might help you, I suggest you call 01865 582 171 and speak to their team.

Colourfence: The ultimate garden fence?

For many Colourfence is perhaps the ultimate choice. For the last 15 years it's been widely used across the UK and has steadily gained a reputation for its quality. By using the highest specification Colorbond steel in the fence structure itself, complemented by the highest level of customer service from accredited Franchisees, Colourfence is now regarded by many as the premier fencing solution in the market. Immune to the rot and resistant to the weather that so quickly effects wooden fences, Colourfence has none of the drawbacks of wood - plenty of additional benefits and what's more it's better value!

Call 01865 582 171 for more information

Gardeners' Questions

Q Wooden fence panels just don't seem to last - is there a storm resistant alternative?

A The Colourfence system has been tested under cyclonic conditions to withstand storms with wind gusts up to 130mph. Unlike your wooden fence - once professionally installed - Colourfence really will stay up!

Q No matter what I treat my wooden fence with - nothing seems to prevent it rotting or looking shabby for very long.

A Treating your fence is a thankless and expensive task. It's also a losing battle. Wood simply want's to rot. Colourfence offers a low-maintenance alternative where by an occasional wash down will keep it looking great for up to 25 years! GUARANTEED!†

THIS WEEK'S JOB

†Terms and conditions apply - full details available on request

Head into Winter - with COLOURFENCE

The only garden fence you will ever need!

Every gardener knows that it pays to plan ahead. If you are one of the thousands of people who watched helpless, as winter winds battered their garden, it will not be a surprise that garden fences are almost always the first casualty. Whether you have previously patched, painted or simply prayed to keep your fence going, there's no escaping the fact that timber fences will always fall victim to the weather. With Colourfence you can put your garden straight once and for all. Colourfence is scientfically tested and cyclonically rated to ensure when professionally installed, it can withstand wind gusts of up to 130mph. Once it's up – it stays up and is guaranteed to look good year after year. Safe, extra secure and hassle free – you will NEVER need to paint it, treat it or patch it. An occasional hose down will be all you need do to keep it in top condition for years to come. In fact the system is so durable that Colourfence will guarantee† their fencing to last at least 25 years. Available in a range of colours to suit any garden, with or without decorative trellis, the highly skilled installation team make short work of their dramatic transformations. Your sad old fence will be e_ ciently cleared and replaced, leaving you to get back to enjoying your rejuvenated garden. Pricing is just as straightforward and equally attractive. Starting costs are in line with inferior timber systems but with no annual treatments required, Colourfence saves you time and money each and every year. Their aim is your peace of mind. With a 25 year guarantee† Colourfence speaks for itself and promises a lifetime of hassle-free enjoyment.

Music greats star at Henley

By Samantha McGregor

A STRING of comedy, music, fireworks and arts acts have been lined up for this summer's Henley Festival.

Rita Ora, inset, will open the event on July 11, the iconic Grace Jones takes to the stage on Thursday with her energetic set guaranteed to include a string of costume changes and dance-club hits including her reinvention of Edith Piaf's classic La Vie En Rose.

Other music legends at the festival include multi-Grammy-winning composer, producer and guitarist Nile Rodgers, while Saturday night will bring Curtis Stigers and The Ronnie Scott's Big Band presenting Sinatra At The Sands.

Henley Festival will close in true style on Sunday, July 15, with English National Opera performing with soloists, full orchestra and chorus, all under the baton of ENO Music Director Martyn Brabbins.

Their repertoire is taken from operas including Carmen, The Marriage of Figaro, Madam Butterfly, Turandot and La Traviata as well as a little Gilbert & Sullivan to top the night off.

The comedy stage welcomes performances by 25 comedians including Paul Merton, Lucy Porter, Mark Watson, Lee Nelson and Dominic Holland.

The comedy line up will also include a very special evening of unscripted, unrehearsed and spontaneous comedy from Dead Ringers' impressionists Jon Culshaw and comedy producer Bill Dare in their sell-out show The Great British Take Off.

Elsewhere at the festival catch the Jazz Club in the Spiegel Tent, with performances by Purdy will be Soul/R'n'B band The Staks Band, King Pleasure and the Biscuit Boys and on Sunday catch Miss Kiddy and the Cads.

The BBC Music Introducing stage, created in 2007 to support unsigned, undiscovered and under the radar musicians, is back again and for a taste of global world music as well as home spun British folk visit the Bedouin Tent.

Henley also boasts a foodie festival, this year Michelin starred chef Angela Hartnett will be taking the reins of Europe's biggest field restaurant, creating a bespoke menu exclusively for Henley, at the Riverside Restaurant.

Elsewhere there will be art displays, a family day and a fireworks display will close each night.

What could be worse than a baby with a monobrow?

COMEDIAN Ellie Taylor is set to play two dates in Oxford as part of her spring tour.

Hot off the heels of her 20 date autumn UK tour, Ellie is back by popular demand with her show This Guy.

Married and in her 30s, Ellie has overcome the surprise of being in a dreadfully happy marriage only for society to test her with a new question – whether or not she wants to breed.

But with the maternal instinct of a pitta bread, Ellie has questions – how do you know if you're ready to be a parent? Should you just take the risk regardless? And what if Ellie does have a baby and her career stalls, or her marriage breaks down or more terrifying of all, the kid has a monobrow?

Ellie has appeared on BBC's Live At The Apollo, Lets Sing and Dance for Comic Relief, Mock the Week and The John Bishop show.

Ellie is also back for a second series of the BBC 2 show The Mash Report, hosted by Nish Kumar and returning in early 2018.

She will perform at Chipping Norton Theatre on Saturday, March 3, and Oxford's North Wall on Saturday, March 17.

Say 'I Do' to a wedding with a twist

By Samantha McGregor

AWARD-WINNING physical theatre company Gecko brings its most "ambitious" show to date to the city.

The Wedding will come to the Oxford Playhouse from March 1 to 3.

In their first ever visit to the Playhouse, Gecko taps into the complex ideas surrounding community, state and feelings of belonging all set within the ceremony and concept of marriage.

Described as "a beautiful show with visceral storytelling and emotionally fuelled physicality", this production explores the idea of 'forced marriage'.

It has been created to question how we are chained to society - the rules it imposes, the ideas it fills our heads with and the actions we feel we must follow.

Set in a dystopian world, The Wedding imagines we are all brides, wedded to society and bound by a contract.

It questions the terms of this relationship? And can we consider a divorce?

Tumbling through every emotion, and inciting a revolution, Gecko have created an intense show focusing on issues around migration and social cohesion.

Led by artistic director Amit Lahav, The Wedding is the perfect example of Gecko's powerful performance style; visual, visceral and ambitious theatre crafted to inspire, move and entertain.

This production was inspired by the complexities of human nature, and brings these contracts and issues of social cohesion within communities into question.

Gecko will host a post-show panel discussion at each venue on the tour to explore two key themes from the show – integration and social cohesion, and affecting change in the community.

Audiences will have the opportunity to share their thoughts and questions with the team.

Gecko's other productions include Institute and Missing.

Tickets for The Wedding at Oxford Playhouse start at £10 and are available from the ticket office by calling 01865 305305 or view oxfordplayhouse.com

Bookshop to stage gothic horror Dracula

CREATION Theatre is back this spring with a new adaptation of Bram Stoker's classic gothic horror Dracula.

Staged in Blackwells Bookshop, this production starts a six-week run from March 3.

Set in Whitby in the 1950s, two characters, Mina and Jonathan, are unpicking the story of the eponymous Count through memories, letters, diary entries, and newspaper articles.

Jonathan has been suffering from a mysterious illness since a trip to Transylvania, and Mina is haunted by the memory of her friend Lucy, who died after succumbing to a similar illness.

As Mina and Jonathan pack away Lucy's possessions, they piece together the events that lead to her death and the strange characters they encountered during her illness, which seem to hang like a shadow over their relationship.

Theirs is an unnerving tale of human relationships, sexuality and succumbing to desire.

For the first time in a Blackwell's show, the production will use innovative audio-visual design to conjure up creatures of the night and allow the cast to interplay with them.

Dracula has been directed by Helen Tennison, who was behind last summer's Alice, and was adapted for the stage by award-winning writer Kate Kerrow.

Tickets cost from £12 and are available from Creation's Box Office on 01865 766266 or view creationtheatre.co.uk

Elvis and his army at Blenheim

By Samantha McGregor

OXFORDSHIRE summer festival Nocture has announced its Saturday night line-up with Elvis Costello starring in the show.

Saturday night will also feature performances by song-writing icons The Waterboys and Nick Lowe.

Tickets have gone on sale for the four-day concert series taking place from June 14 to 17 at Blenheim Palace.

The trio join already announced artists Gary Barlow, Nile Rodgers & Chic and Soul II Soul who will perform at the show.

Saturday's triple bill presents an exclusive opportunity to see three of the UK's most revered, idiosyncratic songwriters on the same bill as they perform music from across their extensive back catalogues against the backdrop of The Great Court at Blenheim Palace.

Lowe famously produced Costello's first five albums and this concert will signal the first time the two have shared a bill since 2013.

Multiple award-winning Costello, who was inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame in 2003, said: "It's great to find ourselves in English summertime as part of the season of concerts alongside our old acquaintance, Nile Rodgers."

Nick Lowe is best known for his songs Cruel to be Kind and I love the Sound of Breaking Glass and has worked with a string of artists including Costello, the Damned, Dave Edmunds and Johnny Cash.

Irish/Scottish folk rock band The Waterboys, who were formed in Edinburgh in 1983 by Scottish musician Mike Scott, are most famous for tunes including The Whole of the Moon, which reached number 3 in the UK charts, Fishermen's Blues and Glastonbury Song.

The line-up for Friday June 15 will be announced soon.

Tickets for Elvis Costello, The Waterboys and Nick Lowe start at £40 and are on sale now.

For more information and ticket details go to nocturnelive.com.

In Memory Of a great tour

GLASWEGIAN art punks Catholic Action are set to return to Oxford to promote their debut album.

The band will perform at The Cellar on Wednesday, as part of a 14-date UK tour.

Playing tunes from their latest record In Memory Of, frontman Chris McCrory said: "In Memory Of has been a long time coming for us, and it wouldn't have happened were it not for you.

"It's a record we're incredibly proud of and we hope you are too.

"So, we're thrilled to be heading out on a headline tour of the UK to perform tracks from In Memory Of and more for the people that made it happen. Thank you! And see you in February."

The brainchild of former Casual Sex member Chris McRory, the band has already picked big support from the BBC's Huw Stephens.

Following the release of their acclaimed debut album In Memory Of, Catholic Action toured with alternative rock trio Kagoule last November, which included a stop at the iconic 100 Club.

The band have also just been confirmed for SXSW in 2018 alongside other British rising stars including The Magic Gang, Nadia Rose and Shame.

Catholic Action formed in 2014 by McCrory alongside Jamie Dubber on bass and Ryan Clark on drums and Andrew Macpherson as lead guitarist.

Naturally Good For You!

- ✓ Pure and unadulterated – straight from the hive.
- ✓ Made by England's finest bee farmers.
- ✓ Every jar inspected for quality prior to despatch.
- ✓ Delivered to your door.

Unprocessed honey that's straight from the hives of English bee farmers.

There's no beating Haughton Honey's amazingly sweet and delicious honey that comes from the meadows, gardens, trees and farmland across the English countryside. Pure unadulterated honey straight out of the hive and never pasteurised, leaving it full of all the natural enzymes and proteins that make English honey so special. It's also cold extracted and coarse filtered to keep all of nature's goodness intact. Every jar of Haughton Honey is different depending upon where the bees and apiaries are located, what time of year it is and the type of flowers the bees are collecting their nectar and pollen from.

Apart from enjoying it spread on your breakfast toast or crumpets or simply scooping spoonfuls straight from the jar, Haughton Honey makes a succulent addition to many of your favourite recipes. Add it to casseroles, sauces and dressings. And of course, honey is a well-known healthy substitute for sugar in your drinks or on your cereal. It's also believed to be a natural remedy for hay fever and other allergies and is often used on skin irritations and burns.

1 4

Place the four signs (add, subtract, multiply, divide) one in each circle so that the total of each across and down line is the same.

Perform the first calculation in each line first and ignore the mathematical law which says you should always perform division and multiplication before addition and subtraction.

Hearing Check & Trial Day

Book now to try this amazing hearing aid

Witney February 22nd 9.30 to 4.30

Banbury February 23rd 9.30 to 4.30

At Keith Donaghy Hearing care

hcpc registered www.hcpc-uk.org

On these days you can visit us for free help and advice and have :-

- A full hearing examination to check your hearing ability.
- Trial the latest hearing aids including the new rechargeable systems.
- Meet George Frost the hearing aid expert from Widex.
- Have a consultation regarding any hearing problems that you have including tinnitus advice.

Why should I have my hearing tested?

Recent studies have shown that there is a connection with hearing loss and dementia. If you have a hearing loss it is advisable to wear hearing aids as soon as possible to prevent isolation in social situations and to aid your hearing sense to work at its optimum, enabling you to continue enjoying an interactive and sociable life.

Book an appointment to avoid disappointment.

You are welcome to call in during the day just to have a look, but please book an appointment with our hearing aid consultant if you require a full hearing screening to avoid being disappointed. Just telephone the number below or send us an email.

Introducing the new WIDEX BEYOND Z

STAY IN CHARGE OF YOUR STREAMING

If the users own an iPhone or iPad, they can stream high-quality sound directly to their WIDEX BEYOND Z™ hearing aids. This means that they can listen to what they want, where they want – without compromise.

HEAR ALL THE MUSIC

Access tunes on the go in hi-fi quality by streaming music via WIDEX BEYOND Z™. The 2.4 GHz connection means that users get the best sound quality available in a hearing aid, in both ears. If they have an Android phone, they can stream music to their hearing aids via one of our many DEX accessories.

New WIDEX BEYOND Z rechargeable hearing aids

LAST ALL DAY CHARGE AT NIGHT

Because WIDEX BEYOND Z™ has the lowest power consumption of any rechargeable hearing aid, users can experience a full day of the most advanced hearing and superior streaming sound quality, without ever worrying about running out of power.

The advanced ZPower silver-zinc cell holds more power than any other battery of its size and only takes 3-4 hours on average to recharge.

TINY HEARING AID
BIG SOUND WINDOW

With any hearing aid, capturing an unchanged and comprehensive sound picture is paramount. Whatever isn't captured by the hearing aid can't be heard by the user. And once sound is compressed, whatever is lost in the compression process can never be regained. That's why WIDEX CUSTOM™ has the largest sound window of any hearing aid in the market (together with WIDEX UNIQUE™ and WIDEX BEYOND™). With a lower limit of 5 dB SPL and an upper limit of 113 dB SPL the WIDEX CUSTOM has a dynamic range of 108 dB.

In addition, the sound window of CUSTOM is linear throughout the entire input range. This eliminates distortion, which means fewer artifacts in noisy environments and allows access to more soft level sounds.

Other benefits

- 4 dedicated A/D converters – deliver full feature functionality with all input types
- 33.1 KHz Sampling – the great amount of sound identification with the broad bandwidth results in the opportunity for the most accurate reproduction of sound.

The daily hysterical headline about house prices is misleading

Bill Cooper, co-author of The Oxford Property Blog and managing director of Martin and Co, Oxford

"Oxford house prices are stagnating" "Oxford homes least affordable in the UK" "The house price bubble is set to burst" "Housing Armageddon". Just a flavour of the typical narrative of headlines in the printed and digital media daily. Yes, it seems we Brits are completely obsessed with property, especially when the news is dire!

Given that I am in the business of writing about Oxford's property market, I thought I'd do a little research to establish some facts and to share them with you.

Hometrack has recently updated its UK Cities house price index with data to December 2017, so it is a good time to take a look and consider the facts.

In general UK citizens feel that they understand property it feels as if it is in our national DNA. And yet, so many people seem to react to short-term trends, changing their investment decisions because of the headlines they read.

According to Hometrack, an average Oxford property is now worth £425,600, at a time when an average London home is worth £488,300. So, an average Oxford property is now worth 87% of an average London property. Only Cambridge gets close to Oxford and London with an average house value of £404,300. But London prices have been falling so surely Oxford will suffer a similar fate? Well the truth is no-one knows! Towards the end of last year Oxford properties did dip slightly according to Hometrack, but across the 12 months to December 2017 Land Registry data shows Oxford properties sold for values 6% up on the previous 12 months. It is also apparent that house prices have performed better than predicted during January.

We are often told that investment in property should be long-term, but does the long-term data support that assertion? Below is an analysis that shows Oxford house prices (in Green) vs UK house prices (in Brown).

Oxford vs UK House Prices

From the graphic it can be seen that the UK house price index had a positive consistent growth curve over the period from 1998, to 2008 after which it had a steep dip during 2009/10 with a progressive recovery to the end of 2017 as which point prices had recovered to their 2007 highs. In comparison, since 1998 Oxford property has consistently out-performed the UK average, following a steeper growth curve, experiencing a more dramatic short-term fall during 2008/9, since when, it's recovery has been significantly steeper recovering 2009/10 losses during 2012/13.

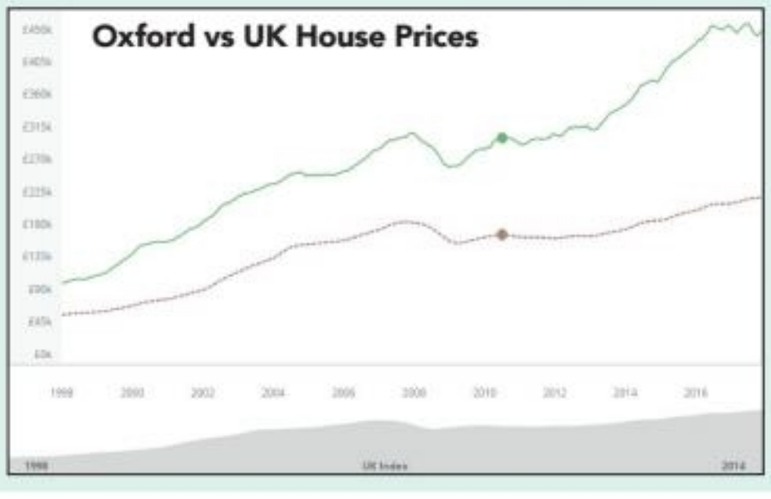
Oxford vs London House Prices

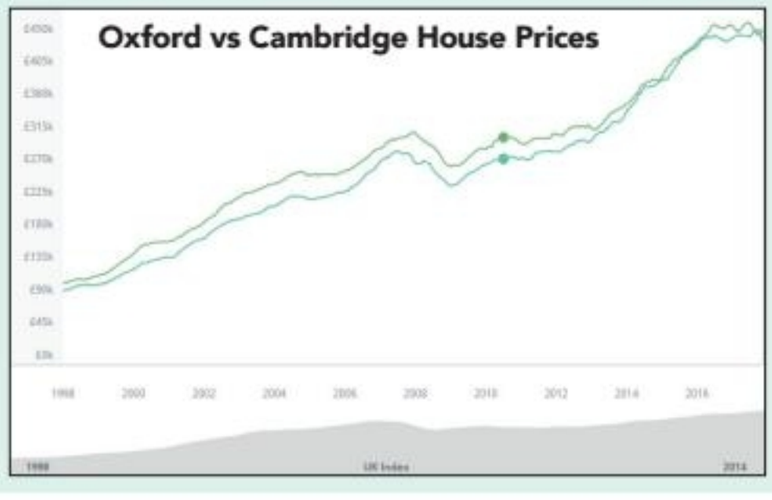
So how has Oxford done compared to London? Well the analysis above shows how closely Oxford (green) typically tracks the London market (Brown). With a gap in average values opening since 2013 as London out-performed the wider UK market because wage growth recovered more strongly and foreign investment drove the market forward.

Oxford vs Cambridge House Prices

And, let's not forget the rivalry with Cambridge. How does Oxford compare with Cambridge? The analysis below is also notable for the close tracking of Oxford (dark green) and Cambridge property (teal) prices, demonstrating that both Cities benefit from their world-renowned Universities, their proximity to London and their long-term investment in the knowledge-based services sector.

What these analyses really show is that property is a reliable long-term investment, and that property owners should not be blown off course by short-term fluctuations and alarming headlines. Even a multi-generational event like the credit crunch, which had a profound effect on property for 12 to 24 months, is now a matter of history with the long-term trend of growth having been restored.





Is it time to fall in love with a new home?

Whether or not Cupid visited you this week, it may still prove to be the right time to fall in love with a new property and market yours for sale or get it ready for new tenants!

Our data has historically shown that in the week after Valentine's Day, there's an uplift in interest in property. Simply, the day of red roses, cheesy greetings cards and romantic gestures, marks a milestone in many relationships – people decide to move in together; to move on from a rental to an owned property; they get engaged; and in some instances, they split up!

Of course, it may simply be a case that people who have been considering a move put it off over the festive period and with the passing of January – a month almost universally loathed – they put their plans in to action. Whatever the situation, it seems that Valentine's Day encourages many people to consider a new home.

Potential buyers registering in the week after Valentine's Day have increased four-fold in the last five years, and last year we saw more mortgage applications made after February 14th than in the previous week! Enquiries and registrations from people looking to rent a new home in the week after Valentine's Day has also risen year on year over the last 3 years.

A one-off peak might have signalled a blip, but having tracked this now for many years, we believe that this is a real and significant trend. That means that if you're planning to market your property for sale or have considered taking your first steps as a landlord, you'd be well advised to register with Andrews now to take advantage of the increase in property interest once Cupid has visited.

In order to ensure that your property stands out from the crowd and becomes a home that someone falls in love with, visit your local Andrews branch – there are five across Oxfordshire – to discuss your plans and arrange a valuation for your home, or visit www.andrewsonline.co.uk for advice on what to consider ahead of a move.

Mazda CX-5 – 2.2 150ps SE-L Nav SKYACTIV -D 2WD

Full of love for 'frankly staggering' Mazda

By Tony Yates

FOR this week's road test, I am in the brilliant Mazda CX-5. And for reasons I can't explain, I'm going to come right out and say it. 'I love it'.

Yes I know I seem to be saying this a lot lately, but it's true. Or maybe it's my age showing here, which might not be a good thing. Anyway, the facts are the Mazda CX-5 is a decent car with plenty to offer.

Honestly, what Mazda has done here is produce a quality product for the right amount of money without skimping on quality or equipment – plus it has pretty much everything you will ever need.

I mean, look at the MX-5 as the perfect example; it's still one of the best 2-seater sports cars you can buy for around the same price as a decent family hatchback.

So once more just for the record, the Mazda CX-5 is a 'frankly staggering' machine, and one of the main reasons why I told my own mother to buy one, which, is exactly what she did.

Power & efficiency

Under the bonnet, you will find a 2.2-litre Turbo-diesel, four-cylinder in line, DOHC 16 valve engine that has 150ps at 4,500rpm and 380Nm of torque. Add in a 0-62 time of just over nine seconds and a top speed of around 127mph. You must also be thinking I bet its thirsty with that big 2.2-litre engine. Actually, you won't need to visit the pumps any sooner than a normal hatchback – because the CX-5 can easily achieve 55mpg on the combined cycle.

On the road

The CX-5 feels planted and handles brilliantly into the corners. The steering is also very accurate and gives you great feedback - while the suspension also manages to soak up all the bumps and potholes with ease.

There was also very little body roll which was yet another sign of the chassis doing an excellent job of keeping everything under control. I think the CX-5 is a proper peach to drive, not only because it feels fun to drive, but also because it feels like Mazda really has put some thought into how it performs, which is always the most important part.

Design & technology

Some of the standard features you will find come in the form of; 17" alloy wheels, LED headlights including LED daytime running lights, LED front fog lights, adaptive front lighting system, dusk-sensing lights, heated, auto power-folding door mirrors, front and rear parking sensors, Black cloth seat trim, driver and front passenger seat height adjustment, rear seat recline, leather-wrapped steering wheel, 40/20/40 fold flat rear seats, electronic parking brake, rain-sensing front wipers, cruise control, front and rear electric windows, dual-zone climate control air-conditioning, engine start / stop button, 7" Colour touch-screen display and multimedia commander and a AM / FM / DAB radio with 6 speakers.

Plus; Integrated navigation system with 3-years free European map updates, advanced Smart City Brake Support, driver and passenger front, side and curtain airbags, Dynamic Stability Control and Traction Control System, Hill Hold assist and ISOFIX child seat anchorages.

To sum up

The CX-5 really is a brilliant car which also happens to be one of the best looking too. Mazda really has done a fantastic job here and the CX-5 is now well above any of its rivals and the only compact SUV you need to be thinking about looking at.

DVLA Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

ALSO BREAKING 500 CARS ALL PARTS AVAILABLE

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk.motoring

More to improve despite second place for Oxford skier

Skiing

OXFORD skiing sensation Jack Cunningham continued his impressive rise in the winter sports world on Monday with a second-place finish in the English Alpine Championships Super-G.

The 15-year-old was competing at Under-16 level at the Championships, taking place in Bormio, Italy.

Cunningham has previously won titles in the same event at Under-14 level.

The 22nd edition of the Championships feature the next generation of English alpine stars in the same month that Team GB take to the slopes at the Winter Olympics in PyeongChang.

Cunningham said: "I've been pretty disappointed the last few days with my skiing.

"It hasn't been where it is normally which is a bit annoying but I guess there's plenty of things to take from it.

"I'm happy to be on the podium but there's still a lot more to improve on."

Cunningham, who races for Team Evolution, finished with a time of 48.98 seconds in the event, sponsored by Rossignol, and was beaten by teammate Robert Holmes who took first.

Fellow Oxford youngster Adrian Yung, who finished 11th in the Under-14s, will join Cunningham in Thursday's giant slalom.

Can't wait to get started

Motorsport

BANBURY-BASED motorsport team Manor LMP1 have announced their drivers for the 2018/19 superseason.

Oliver Rowland, 25, and Charlie Robertson, 21, were revealed as the pair to represent Manor in the FIA World Endurance Championships, including two Le Mans 24 Hours races.

Rowland, from Sheffield, finished third in last year's Formula 2 standings and was the first to be named for the endurance racing team ahead of the upcoming 14-month long WEC season.

Both drivers will race in the Ginetta-Mecachrome G60-LT-P1 under the CEFC TRSM Racing banner.

Rowland said he was "delighted" to drive for the Oxfordshire team and "can't wait to get started".

He added: "Endurance racing is a new experience for me and it will create a fresh challenge, but I am really looking forward to working with the team and driving such an amazing car.

"Competing in the 24 hours of Le Mans is extremely exciting and it's something that I've always wanted to race in."

The young driver previously won the 2011 McLaren Autosport BRDC Award and is a '15 Formula Renault 3.5 champion.

The superseason will start at Spa-Francorchamps in May and conclude with the prestigious Le Mans race in June next year.

Fire extinguished by a returning fans' favourite as Stars win again

Ice Hockey

TABLE-TOPPERS Oxford City Stars received a major boost as the returning Darren Elliot enjoyed an impactful return to the ice.

The influential forward scored the last goal and set up another in an 8-1 home thrashing of Cardiff Fire on Sunday.

Elliot damaged his knee during Oxford's win at Peterborough Phantoms at the end of November.

But the fans' favourite made a goalscoring return when he fired home seven minutes from time to round off City's fourth successive win. He also provided the assist for Michael Whillock to make it 4-0 at the start of the second period.

That goal followed a trio of strikes in the first session from Andrew Cox (9 minutes), Joe Edwards (10) and Conor Redmond (19).

With Cardiff Fire's second division side languishing near the bottom of the league table the Stars were expected to win this game easily, and were confident enough to rotate netminders as Mark Duffy played for the first time in almost two months.

Unsurprisingly most of the action was at the other end as Kamil Kinkor built on Whillock's goal by making it 5-0, slotting home from Matthew Lawday and Jake Florey assists.

Robert Sedlak grabbed Cardiff's consolation on 36 minutes but Kinkor broke away two minutes later to make it 6-1 at the end of the second phase.

Lawday made it seven on 49 minutes before Elliot rounded off the comfortable win four minutes later.

Title rivals Solent Devils also beat Cardiff, winning 8-2 in south Wales on Saturday.

The wins mean Oxford cling on to their position at the top of the South2 table, a point ahead of the Devils having played a game more. Bracknell Hornets, who linger threateningly six points behind Oxford with four games in hand, had the weekend off.

City travel to winless Lee Valley Lions and the Devils play away at Haringey Huskies (8th) on Saturday. Bracknell also face an away game when they visit Bristol Pitbulls (9th) on Sunday.

Bright finish on a miserable day

Rugby

WITNEY thrashed Chinnor II 17-0 on a cold and wet Saturday afternoon at the Kingsey Road ground to progress to the final of the Oxfordshire Cup.

Victory over Chinnor makes it six successive wins in league and cup for the west Oxfordshire club.

The home side were dominant in the opening 30 minutes as a frustrated Witney struggled to get a foothold on the slightly sloping pitch.

The referee spoke to captain and scrum half Gareth Campbell about his team's repeated offences on 17 minutes before Witney centre Charlie Marshall was shown a yellow card three minutes later.

Chinnor edged close to Witney's try line shortly before the half hour mark before being penalised and the tide gradually turned in the away side's favour.

Fly half Jack Birks crossed the line close to the posts four minutes into extra time with full back Arron Lambourne converting to put Witney 7-0 up at the break.

Lloyd Allan touched down on 60 minutes before Campbell's up-and-under eventually found its way to centre Carl Strutt who completed the 17-0 score line 10 minutes later.

Witney will face Banbury in the county cup final at Iffley Road on March 29 and return to league action on Saturday with an away trip to Swindon.

Wimbledon serve up a comprehensive victory over Henley

Rugby

HENLEY Hawks succumbed 19-0 to a struggling Wimbledon side during a lacklustre rain sodden Saturday afternoon in the National League 2 South.

The visitors took the lead early on as Henley struggled to cope with the committed Wimbledon performance.

After a finely poised opening period, the deadlock was broken when fullback Matt Gilbert converted on 15 minutes to put the away side in front.

Daniel Laventure extended the lead shortly afterwards crossing the line with Henley's prop Brad Cook in the sin bin.

Henley currently sit nine places above Wimbledon in the league table but there was no gulf in class on the pitch as the second half got under way.

After Cook suffered a head injury, Hawks were left with 14 men on the field and had to resort to uncontested scrums.

The contest was all but ended when Ben Brooks put Wimbledon even further out of reach on 60 minutes to cap a fine display to move the away side a little closer to league safety.

Wimbledon's Dylan Flashman was named the man of the match in front of the 210-strong crowd at the Dry Leas ground.

The result means Henley stay sixth on 62 points ahead of Saturday's away trip to Redruth in Cornwall.

Hoops scoop valuable points

By George Welch

Oxford City

Debutant Sam Nombe scored City's fourth to secure the points in a good victory
Picture: Michael Allen

THE pressure was lifted off the shoulders of boss Mark Jones as Oxford City won just their second game in 2018.

The Hoops humbled promotion chasing Hemel Hempstead 4-1 at Court Place Farm on Saturday.

A Freddie Grant goal meant City were already a goal to the good before Hemel keeper Laurie Walker was sent off for rushing out too quickly and handling the ball outside the area on 20 minutes.

It took just four minutes for relegation threatened Oxford to take advantage as Christian Oxlade-Chamberlain bundled home.

Late goals from Godfrey Poku and debutant Sam Nombe secured City's biggest win of the season since the 3-0 at Whitehawk in August.

"It's a really good win for us", a relieved Jones said. "We came into the game under a little bit of pressure as we haven't started the year very well.

"Hemel are flying high in the table and it's a big win. We played well and I think we deserved it.

"We had a bit of good fortune when the keeper was sent off but I think we managed the game quite well."

He added that he was pleased with the "really, really good" debuts of new signings defender Frankie Musonda and forward Sam Nombe, who joined the club on loan from Luton Town and Milton Keynes Dons respectively last week.

The win halted a disappointing run of four defeats in five matches, edging them away from the National League South trapdoor.

Jones challenged his players to build on the win and find some consistency. Next up is a long trip to Truro City on Saturday.

He said: "What we have to do now is take it on to the next game. We need to show some consistency and go to Truro and reproduce a similar type of performance."

Truro are another play-off chasing side, promising another difficult fixture for Jones' men.

But the Cornwall side go into the game on the back of a 3-1 home defeat to mid-table Wealdstone.

The Hoops are 17th on 32 points from 30 games, three places and four points above the relegation zone.

Playing well altogether nets result for Puritans

Mike Ford was pleased with the performance on Saturday

Banbury United

BANBURY United saw off promotion chasers Slough Town with an impressive 1-0 away win in Berkshire on Saturday as more new faces join the depleted squad.

A disciplined Puritans performance in defence allowed Ricky Johnson to snatch a second half goal to move Banbury to within one point of Slough in the Evo-Stik South Premier and keep their playoff hopes alive.

Defeat for the home team drops them out of the top five and one place above Banbury who are biting at their heels in eighth on 53 points.

Banbury were forced to play in an unfamiliar purple shirt after a misunderstanding over kit colours meant the visitors had to wear Slough's old away tops.

Both sides cancelled each other out in the opening half before Johnson broke the deadlock on 66 minutes capitalising on a defensive slip from Guy Hollis.

The lively forward confidently finished past Jack Turner in the Slough goal to put the Oxfordshire club in front, who restricted Slough to pot shots and dead ball situations.

Manager Mike Ford said: "Every single one of those players has played fantastically well in some games, but we haven't played well altogether in one game, and that's what we did today.

"I'm just really pleased because we've had a week where I've let a really good player go, I brought in a player [Leon Lobjoit] who in my eyes is slightly different, but he's unfortunately broken his arm and is out for six to eight weeks."

Lobjoit, 23, joined the club on loan from Northampton Town until the end of the season but broke his arm in training on Thursday last week.

He joins 18-year-old left footed defender Ross McMahon on work experience from Coventry City and former Oxford City and Oman side Fanja SC forward Amer Awadh, 20, after being given international clearance.

Last week, Banbury released striker Conor McDonagh, who registered 31 goals in 84 appearances for the club.

Banbury travel to leaders King's Lynn Town on Saturday.

Chances missed as Railwaymen come off the tracks

Didcot Town

TEN-MAN Didcot Town were left rueing missed chances as they lost 2-0 at Winchester City on Saturday.

The Railwaymen dominated possession but were unable to convert a number of opportunities.

On a pitch that cut up badly, Diddy's George Jeacock had the game's first big chance, firing into the side-netting when he could have crossed.

Winchester's Ryan Pryce then denied the away side with good saves from Matty Woodley and Cameron McNeill.

A Stuart Cattell header hit the bar and Felipe Barcelos could only head the rebound over.

Frustrated they weren't ahead at the break, Town fell behind to a freak goal three minutes after the restart when Jamie Barron launched an effort from 50 yards which looped over Leigh Bedwell.

The big moment of the match came when Didcot thought they should have had a penalty but, protests waved away, the hosts went down the other end and won a penalty of their own.

Cattell received his second yellow card for the foul and Barron duly converted the penalty.

Winchester only had a man advantage for five minutes as Adam Brice was also sent off but City hung on for victory.

The defeat leaves Diddy clinging on to sixth place, the final Evo-Stik South West play-off position.

■ Thame United v Hanwell Town, North Leigh v AFC Totton and Slimbridge v Kidlington were all postponed on Saturday.

Moneyfields v Thame United and North Leigh v Paulton Rovers were postponed on Tuesday.

Abingdon give tough lesson in second half

Hellenic round-up

A SUPERB second half shift from Steve Alman's Abingdon United helped them come from behind to beat Longlevens 3-1.

All three United goals came in the second half and the home win helped the Vale side elbow their way into the top half of the Hellenic Premier League.

Adam Phillips put Longlevens ahead with a ninth minute strike – and that is how it stayed for more than 50 minutes.

Jayce Olivero levelled the scores at the Northcourt dead on the hour before John Dennis continued the momentum with a brace. His first came on 75 minutes, his second hitting the back of the net on 90 minutes.

PE teacher Alman praised the "important" win, adding: "Dictated the game, dominated with chances, importantly though, players stuck to the plan and got the rewards their efforts deserved."

United's win made it back-to-back wins for February – they will try and make it three from three when they pay a visit to Lydney Town on Saturday.

Oxford City Nomads' game at Burnham was postponed due to a waterlogged pitch while Wantage Town did not have a game.

As a result of their weekend off, the Freds fell further behind the two pacesetters as both Thatcham Town and Highworth Town won.

Town (3rd) host Fairford Town (17th) and Nomads (13th) entertain Tuffley Rovers (12th) on Saturday.

Explosive start fizzles out as Gas blast brace

A LACKLUSTRE second half showing from Oxford United threw away an early lead as Bristol Rovers struck twice in the second period to condemn Derek Fazackerley to a 2-1 defeat in his first home game in charge.

United started well and took the lead within two minutes through Joe Rothwell, but a poor second half from the U's saw the Gas turn the game around with a confident showing.

Caretaker boss Fazackerley called on his players to build on the previous win at Charlton Athletic – and he got an immediate response as the Yellows exploded into action.

A poor clearance from Rovers stopper Adam Smith found its way to Rothwell who took advantage and fired confidently into the top corner of the net.

The United players said the buzz around the club had returned and the hosts played with drive and passion in the early stages, although Simon Eastwood had to be alert to tip a Chris Lines effort over the bar.

Rothwell and Isaac Buckley-Ricketts both went close but Rovers saw more of the ball as the half went on.

Lacking firepower since Billy Bodin, the scorer of 11 Rovers goals this season, left for the Championship last month, the visitors only really tried their luck from range in the first half.

Kyle Bennett and Stuart Sinclair skewed high and wide before Ollie Clarke had similar luck with strikes from outside the area as the first half came to a close.

The U's had plenty to do in the second half to hold on to their lead and they were given a fright when former United midfielder Liam Sercombe, the scorer of 17 goals in two seasons in Oxford colours, flashed a header wide.

The Gas continued to ask questions as striker Ellis Harrison who, quiet up to the hour mark, should have done better with a header from close range.

But the pressure proved too much and, on 68 minutes, Bennett smashed home the equaliser when Oxford failed to clear a free kick.

Rattled, the wave of pressure intensified and Eastwood had to be at full stretch to tip a curling Bennett effort from around the post.

The winner arrived 10 minutes from time when a Clarke cross was volleyed home by Harrison.

Substitute Agon Mehmeti responded with a low drive that flashed wide but United failed to keep the ball or create anything of note in the second half, leaving plenty for Fazackerley to think about.

'Performance just wasn't good enough'

A FRUSTRATED Derek Fazackerley bemoaned a lack of composure for Oxford United's second half capitulation against Bristol Rovers.

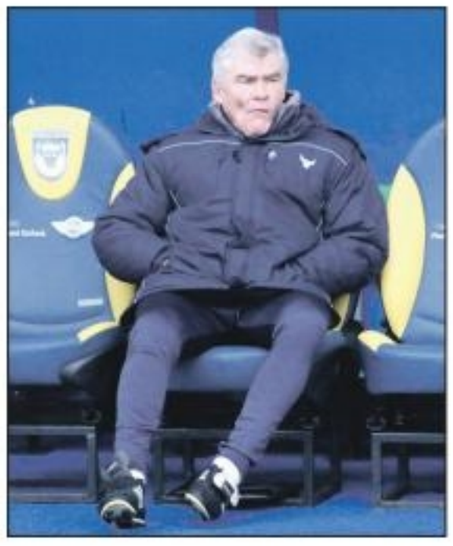
The temporary boss said his players struggled to effectively keep hold of possession while coping with the Gashead's directness.

Unhappy with the overall performance, the 66-year-old said: "We made a good start to the game but ultimately the performance wasn't good enough to justify us getting anything from the game.

"With the start that we got I would have anticipated us to show a little bit more composure.

"Bristol Rovers are a very difficult team to play against and we were defending for long periods and inevitably it gives the opposition the opportunity to get the ball in and around the box and they nicked a couple of goals."

The former defender, who has lost three and won one of his four games in charge, said he would still be unhappy with the performance even if the U's had won.



Derek Fazackerley at Saturday's game

He said: "After the good start I don't know whether our mentality was that we [the players] might be able to hold onto a 1-0 win.

"Last week we talked about performance and in the performance it got us the opportunity to stay in the game and snatch a late winner but our performance today [Saturday] wasn't good enough irrespective of the result.

"Even if we'd won 1-0 we would have been hugely disappointed with the performance because that's what drives the results."

Fazackerley added that some of the players are struggling to deal with the added tension around the Kassam.

He said: "There's a little bit of nervousness and edginess about the place at the moment, especially when playing here, and the crowd become edgy if you're not playing the type of football they expect.

"That has certainly impacted one or two of the players. We have to be better."

■ Meanwhile, the club is yet to comment on Pep Clotet's successor. It has now been more than three weeks since the Spaniard was sacked and it remains unclear who will replace him.

As we went to press Craig Bellamy, who missed out on the Wales job last month, is the bookies' favourite. David Unsworth is the latest to rule himself out, meaning Alan Stubbs, another ex-Everton defender, is second favourite.

Ladies head off to Cyprus

OUFCW

GOALKEEPER Claire Skinner and striker Chloe Chivers have been called up to the Welsh Women's squad for the Cyprus Cup.

Manager Jayne Ludlow named the Oxford United Ladies pair ahead of the tournament opener against Finland on February 28.

Wales have been placed in Group A alongside Finland, Italy and Switzerland, and will be keen to improve on last year's sixth place finish.

Skinner has played two games for Oxford so far this season while Chivers is the club's second top goalscorer with three goals from 12 appearances.

The call-ups came after the U's lost their fourth game of the WSL2 season.

Having got back to winning ways against Aston Villa the previous week, United were unable to build on this and lost 2-1 at Tottenham Hotspur Ladies on Sunday.

Chivers justified her Wales call up with the opener midway through the first half, heading an Ellis Hillman cross over the keeper and into the net.

The Yellows held on to the lead until hail and snow made a guest appearance and an Oxford player handled in the box.

Stopper Demi Lambourne saved the spot kick only for Coral-Jade Haines to convert the rebound on 68 minutes.

And Spurs secured the points 10 minutes later when Ryah Vyse prodded home a Bianca Baptiste cross.

Oxford remain fifth, a point and a place above Tottenham, on 11 points from nine games.

They travel to Brighton & Hove Albion (3rd) on Thursday next week.

U's left with mountain to climb after falling to 13th

IRRESISTIBLE Rotherham United proved too strong for struggling Oxford United, who slipped into the bottom half of the table for the first time since October following defeat in South Yorkshire.

The timid U's were outgunned 3-1 by the Millers at the New York Stadium, a result that cost United a fifth defeat in six matches.

James Henry scored a fine solo goal on the stroke of half time – a rare positive in another loss – but the visitors were already two goals down by this point.

Caretaker manager Derek Fazackerley said his side need to stop shooting themselves in the foot but Rotherham top the SkyBet League One form table so it was no surprise they started strongly.

The hosts had already threatened twice by the time Anthony Forde smashed the ball past Simon Eastwood from 20 yards for a well-taken opener within 10 minutes.

It should have been two not long after but Eastwood, marking his 100th start for United, produced one of the finest saves of his career, tipping a Michael Smith header from six yards onto the post.

Paul Warne's side did not have to wait much longer for the second goal though as Richard Towell racked up his third goal of the season from close range on the half hour mark.

Henry drifted past a defender and fired a wonderful effort into the roof of the net to pull a goal back for the U's. Remarkably, the winger could have levelled things in injury time had it not been for a fine save from Marek Rodak.

Any recovery was nipped in the bud when Rotherham made it 3-1 shortly after the restart, Smith opening up the two-goal home advantage again with a tap in.

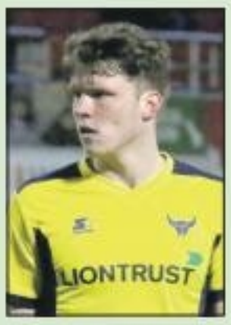
The result made it five wins on the bounce for Rotherham who stretched their unbeaten run to 12 games.

Afterwards, a disappointed Fazackerley said he was encouraged with the hunger and desire of the players to get back into the game but added: "We can't keep shooting ourselves in the foot like that – it leaves you with a mountain to climb."

Oxford are 13th while Saturday's visitors to the Kassam Plymouth Argyle, bottom of the table in October, have climbed to eighth, only three points off the play-offs.

Putting hard work in on training pitch

DEBUTANT Rob Dickie, pictured, admitted there were mixed feelings after finally making his first Oxford United appearance in the 3-1 defeat at Rotherham United on Tuesday.



The centre back, who signed from Reading at the start of January, did well on his United debut, winning plenty in the air and making several important interceptions on the deck.

The 21-year-old spent the first seven games of his United career on the bench but replaced Aaron Martin in the starting line-up against the Millers.

The tall centre half said: "I'm pleased to make my debut but it was a disappointing night against a good Rotherham side that have a really good understanding of their game plan."

Dickie enjoyed a combative debut against the 6ft 4in striker Michael Smith, who got the better of his marker to score Rotherham's third goal.

"I will always relish a challenge like that and after the game I will always shake his hand – it's a man's game," he said.

Dickie will have easier games but admitted that Oxford could have got something from the visit to South Yorkshire.

He said: "We had our chances and we had a few good spells in the game where we looked promising.

"We just need to cut out the goals that we're conceding and we'll work our hardest on the training pitch to do that."
